#CHICEATS: NEW YORK'S BEST RETRO RESTAURANTS

Our weekly column covers the chicest food and restaurants. Here, our picks for the best New York City restaurants that evoke another era.

2) Junior's: This classic Brooklyn restaurant feels like it's straight out of the '50s. Most famous for their cheesecake, Junior's has been serving Brooklyn deli food and more since it opened 1950. The interior is full of neon signs, colorful stripes and, of course, vintage photographs of Brooklyn. The menu boasts almost anything you could ever want, starting with a welcome by waiters who serve bowls of pickles, coleslaw, beets and bread on the table for pre-meal snacks.
